Work experience and extra curricular

Green Power Global - Freelance Designer July 2017 - present

My most recent part-time role is as a freelance designer for an internationally renowned company that creates quality, senior level commercial networking conferences for the clean energy industry. Responsibilities consist of designing event brochures, advertising and post-event reports in print and digital communication.

Hanover - Creative Artworker/Junior Designer August 2014 - May 2017

My previous role was with Hanover, a leading retirement housing provider. Reporting to the creative director, I produced visual solutions for multiple internal clients. Solution examples included infographic design and producing editorial layouts for publications.

Dragonfly Training - Freelance Designer December 2013 - March 2016

Dragonfly is an international teacher training company based in Penarth. My role as freelance designer included taking on brochure and advert designs for course training.

Techmix - Creative Intern October 2013 - November 2013

Techmix is a magazine devoted to informing students about digital skills. My responsibilities included type detailing, image and logo reworking on the magazine prior to release. Other projects involved creating a media pack and designing branded team clothing for Skills London 2013.

Spider Hack - Graphic Designer July 2013

A two day, team-competitive, multi-discipline design event. The brief was to create an online solution to help the NEETs (Not in Education, Employment or Training) age group of 16-24 year olds in Cardiff to find jobs. Through hard work and collaboration my team won this event.

Brisfest - Graphic Design Volunteer March 2013 - September 2013

Voluntarily supporting this festival included promotion, advertising and web design. This experience gave insight into how festival and music promotion is delivered.
